

Xodys Project - Detail(Profit Sharing)

The Development of the projects can start under development with the current goal of 2008 and the steady state to Division of Profits

- Standard Deal for only developing a Concept to the point that it is licensed:
  - Inventor Share of Royalties - 50%
  - Sales and Marketing Share of Royalties - 30%
  - Development Share of Royalties - 20%
- External Concepts - a concept submitted by either an outside inventor or a non-Development employee
  - the license that advance monies are requested by the inventor, the company will cover this rather than additional royalty monies
  - even if the license is created so that the licensee is responsible for the amount guaranteed in the license
- Internal Concepts - a concept submitted by a Development staff.
  - Standard Deal is the same as External Concepts.
  - royalty payments not compensated for with the inventor(s) for that period would be deducted from the total that the licensee would be paid for the development of the product. With the exception of the inventor, all other staff compensation would be added to a salary with the period of development. Royalties produced based on the sale of the product would be divided to the inventor(s) and the company.
